

Intelligent Work Assessment

Turn Lost Hours Into Measurable Business Value

Organizations are investing heavily in AI tools like Microsoft 365 Copilot, yet many struggle to realize measurable returns. Employees remain burdened by repetitive, low-value work, and organizations often fail to convert AI investments into meaningful value.

MajorKey created the Intelligent Work Assessment to help organizations turn those investments into quantifiable business value by identifying where time is being lost, prioritizing the highest-impact productivity opportunities, and embedding Microsoft 365 Copilot, Security Copilot, Azure Foundry, and other agents directly into real workflows.

In just 15 days, Intelligent Work identifies high-impact productivity opportunities and delivers a leadership-ready roadmap with measurable efficiency and ROI reporting.

Two Hours Back. Every Person. Every Week.

The goal of the Intelligent Work Assessment is simple: identify, recover, and measure at least two hours of productivity per employee per week using the Microsoft solutions you already own.

Recover lost time. Build workforce capacity. Prove the value of AI.

What Does the Intelligent Work Assessment Provide?

A Clear Path to Measurable ROI	Identifies where time is being lost, applies Security Copilot and other agents to high-impact workflows, measures recovered hours, and translates productivity gains into tangible business value and workforce capacity.
A Prioritized Productivity Roadmap	Uses structured interviews and scoring to uncover the efficiency opportunities and focus efforts where they will have the greatest impact.
A Secure Foundation for AI Adoption	Ensures every solution is backed by the identity, governance, security, and oversight required to scale AI responsibly across the organization.
A Framework for Continuous Improvement	Delivers playbooks, governance processes, and ongoing optimization strategies that uncover and capture additional productivity gains over time.
